

FINANCIAL LEADERSHIP FOR CLIMATE ACTION: A CFO ROUNDTABLE

EVENT OVERVIEW

Event: Financial Leadership for Climate Action: A CFO Roundtable

Date: July 22, 2022

On July 22, The Climate Board held a virtual roundtable event that brought together leading CFOs to discuss insights, concerns, successes, and challenges to the corporate climate transition. A total of 13 CFOs and organizational leaders convened from a diverse set of industries, including transportation, infrastructure, hospitality, real estate, agriculture, water and hygiene, biotechnology, and renewable energy.

The session began with an opening presentation by The Climate Board on the role of the CFO vis-à-vis sustainability, followed by remarks from guest speakers Annette Nazareth, Chair of the Board of the Integrity Council for the Voluntary Carbon Market (ICVCM) and Karan Chopra, COO of Cervest. After a brief Q&A, participants engaged in a discussion on the CFO's evolving job description, with particular attention to four thematic areas:

- Enterprise approach to data and measurement
- Relationship with sustainability leaders
- Economic framework for environmental goals
- Scope 3 strategy and value chain dynamics
